

B7
48. The installation of claim 39, wherein the winding is operable free of partial discharge and field control.

49. The installation of claim 39, wherein the winding comprises multiple uninterrupted turns.

50. The installation of claim 39, wherein the cable is flexible.

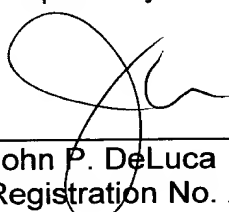

51. The installation of claim 39, wherein the winding is threaded in at least one of the rotor and the stator.--

If any multiple dependencies exist in the claims, it is respectfully requested that such dependencies be removed.

REMARKS

By this Preliminary Amendment the original claims have been amended to better conform with U.S. practice and to remove multiple dependencies therefrom. New claims set forth the invention in a different scope.

Respectfully submitted,
